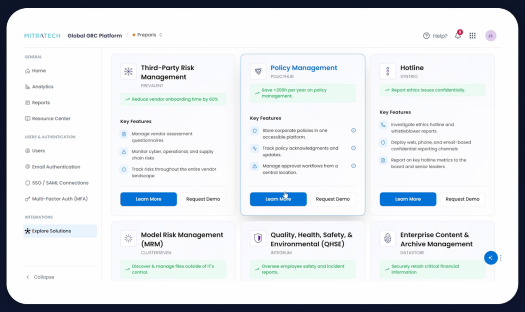
Mitratech's Global GRC Platform Decisions Powered by Intelligence

Connect your GRC solutions through intelligence - see how risks relate across your enterprise, act with confidence, and stay ahead of what's next.

Built on What Works. Designed to Go Further.

Our platform uses intelligence to connect signals across ethics, compliance, cyber, and audit, revealing how simultaneous risks influence each other. Gain a centralized view, breaking down silos without sacrificing the depth of specialized solutions.



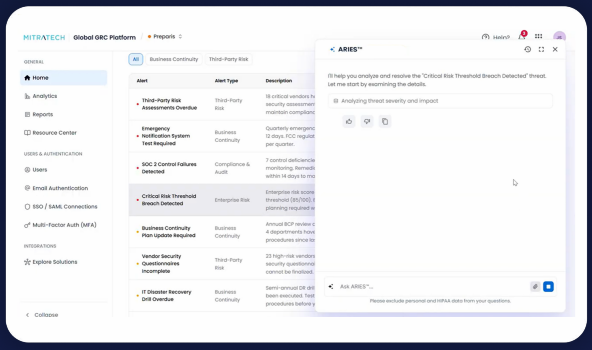
AI with Answers, Not Assumptions

Meet ARIES™ - an AI ecosystem built directly into your daily GRC workflows. It draws on data across your Mitratech solutions to surface insights via guided analysis and conversational interaction, accelerating understanding while keeping final decisions human-controlled.

ARIES™ doesn't just give you answers — it shows you how it got there. Every response is traceable back to your actual GRC data, so you can verify what you're seeing before you act on it.

ARIES™ is opt-in by design. That means you choose exactly where and when AI is used across your GRC program. Turn it on for the workflows that benefit. Turn it off when you don't need it. Adjust anytime as your needs or regulations change. In regulated environments, that kind of control isn't just a preference - it's a requirement.

Insight is accelerated. Reasoning is visible. Decisions stay human.



Built for the World You Actually Operate In.

Mitratech operates worldwide - with teams across North America, Europe, and the Asia-Pacific region bringing regional expertise to global GRC programs.

That means deep understanding of local regulatory expectations, support for complex multi-jurisdiction environments, and a platform shaped by real-world practice across some of the world's most regulated regions and industries. When regulations shift in one region, your program needs to respond - not catch up. Mitratech is built for that reality.
